

Deadlock Broken At London Parley By Herriot's Plan

So Much Progress Made
Thursday That German
Invitation May Be Sent Today.

ONLY MINOR DETAILS
YET TO BE SETTLED

Stumbling Block Over
Security of German Loan Quickly Removed
by French Plan.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
London, July 31.—The deadlock in the inter-allied conference was broken today by the proposals which M. Herriot, the French premier, submitted yesterday to the allied plenipotentiaries and Frank B. Kellogg, the American ambassador.

The experts took the proposals in hand this morning and remained with their task this afternoon and tonight with such gratifying results that American officials, who are close to the conference table, believe that an invitation for German representatives to come to London will be dispatched tomorrow.

James A. Logan, the American official observer, said he was hopeful that a settlement would be reached today. The experts will reassemble at 11 o'clock this morning to continue their work.

Work Past Midnight.
Tonight's session lasted five hours. The experts assembled at 10 o'clock and at midnight had supper in the conference room. They then returned to their labors, but it soon became apparent that a final agreement could not be reached without an adjournment that would allow the various experts to take counsel with their chiefs.

In the opinion of the American observers, the French proposals for modifying the Dawes plan do not strike at the heart of the scheme, and it is believed an agreement can be worked out on the basis of Premier Herriot's plan.

Mr. Logan said that he intended to go to Paris for the week-end and that he hoped the Germans would be in London Monday when he returns and that the conference can then enter its last phase.

Default Obstacle Removed.
The French plan was not entirely acceptable in the form in which it was laid on the table. But the objections to the first proposal were overcome sooner than had been anticipated, and after two hours' discussion the experts announced that the obstacle of how a German default might be declared under the Dawes plan had been removed. This question had been blocking the progress of the conference for nearly a fortnight.

The experts then went to grips with the third point in the French proposals, relating to an extension of the terms of the Versailles treaty with regard to payments in kind, and, with minor alterations, this proposal was accepted. To many members of the allied delegations, it seemed to be too good to be true that M. Herriot's efforts were taking the conference out of its difficulties as rapidly as they appeared.

Gloomy Predictions Banished.
There had been plentiful predictions that the proposals were doomed before they were submitted. But hope rose when agreement was reached on the means of declaring a default. This decision meant shifting the conference differences from the question of possible German delinquency to the proposal of modifying the Dawes plan.

The experts approached this point of the French proposals with considerable misgivings, for, although two-thirds of the French plan for a settlement of the controversy had speedily gained the committee's approval, entire effectiveness of M. Herriot's suggestions depended upon their coming to a decision.

"I started out so bravely to see the world," she said as her eyelids showed her on the verge of tears. "Tomorrow daddy will be here and I'll go back home and I'll stay there, too, but I did want to see something of the world and I knew the only way to do it was to start."

Miss Tiller was taken into custody at a local boarding house and is being held for her father, W. P. Tiller, who telegraphed he will be here tomorrow. When arrested the little runaway was modestly garbed in knickers, golf stockings and a sweater of light blue.

Asked if she felt home because she was not well treated, she said:

"Oh, no, I have the dearest daddy and mother in the world, but daddy was a little strict—too strict, I thought, but it was only for my own good. I know that. I will be the happiest girl in the world when I see him and—and, if he should spank me, I guess I'll be glad for that. Running away isn't all the fun I thought it would be and I'm not going to try it again."

Atlanta Real Estate In the 1842 Auction

Before this city had even been named Atlanta, trading in real estate had become a romantic business hereabouts.

At the first real estate auction on record in this vicinity, Fred Arms presided as auctioneer in the year 1842. He knocked down three subdivisions of the well-known Mitchell lot to David Dougherty, Wash Collier and himself.

It was the vision of these city forefathers that helped to a high degree the rapid development of this community. Foresight, determination and courage—qualities never lacking in Atlanta's leaders of old—are still predominant virtues in Atlanta real estate dealers today.

They will tell you that The Atlanta Constitution, which fifteen years before any other local paper was even in existence began boosting Atlanta land, has proved an outstanding constructive power in the building of 1924 Atlanta.

Will Recommend National Park In Appalachians

National Park Committee
Will Return to Washington
After Inspection Today.

Asheville, N. C., July 31.—Dr. Herbert Work, secretary of the interior, who came to western North Carolina with the national park committee and who suffered a slight attack of indigestion Monday afternoon, left here this afternoon for Washington to attend tomorrow's cabinet meeting. Dr. Work said that he had practically recovered from the attack prior to his departure for Washington.

Other members of the committee spent the greater part of today at Blowing Rock. Tomorrow morning, they will go to Linville Falls, Linville Gorge and Linville Mountain, after which they will return to Washington. The entire party will be guests of the citizens of Marion Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Lake James club house.

Dr. Temple, chairman of the committee, this afternoon expressed the opinion that without any doubt the committee had already seen sufficient areas to be assured that a recommendation would be made for the establishment of a national park in the southern Appalachian area. He did not indicate that this site had already been agreed upon, or whether or not other areas would be inspected.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO WOO FARMERS DURING CAMPAIGN

Recent Advance in Grain
Prices Held Insufficient
To Make Them Forget
Last Three Years.

Washington, July 31.—Democrats still intend to focus a large part of their campaign on the farmers, despite the recent rise in grain prices, which republicans are claiming will calm the ruffled feelings of the western and northwestern agricultural states.

Democratic leaders take the position that the recent improvements will not be sufficient to make the farmers forget conditions in the last three years, and contend further that the value of the advance in grain prices to the farmer has been overrated. With this message, they say they will hit the line just as hard as they had planned before the agricultural situation perked up.

This position was outlined here Thursday by two leading democrats, Senator Walsh, of Montana, permanent chairman of the democratic convention, who will make the speech of acceptance.

REPORT ON SUGAR HANDLED COOLIDGE

Tariff Commission,
Scored by La Follette
Recently, Said To Be Divided in Views.

Washington, July 31.—The tariff commission transmitted to President Coolidge today its findings in the investigation of the sugar tariff instituted more than a year and a half ago.

The form in which the results of the investigation was communicated to the president was not disclosed, but the report, finding that the present rate was unjustifiably high, and a minority report, holding that existing duties accurately represent differences in cost of production at home and abroad, would be laid before the president.

The sugar investigation was initiated in March, 1922, by direction of President Harding, and throughout has been a subject of dissension within the commission. The inquiry which covered Cuba and other sources of foreign supply was completed several weeks ago.

SUIT FOR 14 CENTS FILED TO COLLECT CAR FARE OF BOY

Norfolk, Va., July 31.—Action for the recovery of 14 cents, an amount alleged to be due for street car fare, was filed in civil court here today by the Virginia Railway & Power company, operators of the local street railway system.

The suit, said to be unparalleled in court records here both as to the amount and basis, was directed against Mrs. M. Manuell, 928 Olney road. It resulted from the alleged failure of Mrs. Manuell's young son to pay car fare between Norfolk and Ocean View, July 27.

The traction company alleges the boy is six years of age. Children over five are required to pay full fare.

JUBILATION REIGNS AS BANKS APPROVE LOAN TO SCHOOLS

Political as Well as School Situation Clarified by Solution of Knotty
Problem.

SIMS STRENGTHENED
IN RELECTION RACE

Enrollment for Fall Term
Expected To Proceed
With Rush Since Matter
Is Settled.

Jubilant reign generally in official and unofficial Atlanta Thursday afternoon, following formal approval by the Atlanta Clearing House association of the $350,000 loan for schools negotiated by Mayor Walter A. Sims. Approval was voted at a special meeting at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

With the ominous threat of a possible emergency tax election close to the time of the city primary, or its alternative of a shutdown of public schools, candidates for city offices and city officials had been laboring under a nervous strain for several weeks, awaiting the outcome of the mayor's bid for bank support.

Approval of the school loan will clarify the local political as well as school situation to a degree which was declared to be highly acceptable both to advocates and critics of the present school administration.

Mayor's Position Strengthened.
It was generally agreed that the mayor's position has been greatly strengthened by the success of his efforts this soon before the opening of the active campaign.

The school department prepared Thursday for a heavy influx of new pupils to register for the next term, by reason of assurance that schools would be kept open throughout the year.

"Enrollment has been almost at a standstill for several weeks," Assistant Superintendent H. Reid Hunter stated. "People apparently have been holding off from entering their children in school because of the uncertainty that seemed to prevail as to whether school would be open the full term this fall and winter."

"With all doubt settled through approval of the loan secured by the mayor, we are looking for a rush to begin in the census and attendance department. Many schools will be almost full with pupils who were in attendance last year, while children of new residents and first graders who will enter school for the first time will be assigned to seats in the order of their application for enrollment."

Department Is Moved.
The census and attendance department has been moved by the board of education from the fifth floor to the suite of offices formerly occupied by the assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools. A great deal of inconvenience to patrons and children had been occasioned last year by reason of the fact that the department had been on the fifth floor, which is not served by the city hall elevator.

A sufficient staff of assistants had been assigned to the attendance department to handle the enrollment rush without congestion.

Congratulations of city and school officials and of leaders in the parent-teacher organizations were showered upon Mayor Sims Thursday upon the success of his negotiations for the school loan.

The assistance provided by the city hall was most efficient.

FLIERS PLAN HOP TO ICELAND TODAY

Kirkwall, Scotland, July 31.—Held up by reports of a dismal fog around Iceland, their next objective, American round-the-world fliers now hope to get away early Friday morning on the 500-mile hop to Hornafjordur.

When weather reports made a day's postponement necessary, the airmen went in for an intensive day of sightseeing and shopping, playing about this picturesque Scottish town with all the abandon of school boys on a holiday.

MERCY OF COURT ASKED BY DARROW FOR BOY SLAYERS

Defender of Leopold and Loeb Pleads for Chance
To Put Alienists on Stand in Fight for Life.

CAVERLY EXPECTED TO DECIDE TODAY

Jacob Franks Weeps
When Darrow Points to Youth of Killers, But Desires Death Penalty.

BY H. H. ROBERTSON.
Chicago, July 31.—With rapid-fire thrusts of sarcasm, wit and impassioned speech, Clarence S. Darrow in an eloquent appeal called upon Chief Justice John R. Caverly Thursday afternoon to permit the introduction of testimony of defense alienists that Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb were victims of "functional mental disease."

The day's session closed with Walter Bachrach, of the defense staff, citing court decisions to show that evidence of mental condition could be introduced.

At the climax of his address the chief defense counsel, with arms outstretched in supplication, said:

"I ask you to temper justice with mercy; to allow us to show you that these boys were the victims of mental disorders which made them irresponsible, so that their condition was such that we could not offer it before a jury as an insanity defense, because it does not come within the scope of legal insanity."

"Unfortunately, the families of my clients have been reported to be people of great wealth and this has added to the notoriety of the case and aroused passions that I never before have seen equaled. We ask your honor to try this case humanely and impartially, to let us introduce our evidence, to allow us to show you the condition these boys were in at the time they committed their crimes. We believe, in the name of humanity, that your honor ought to listen to all the evidence, and not send these boys to the gallows without hearing what we have to say in their behalf."

Jacob Franks Weeps.
Darrow's plea for permission to put several eminent alienists on the stand in an effort to prove that Leopold and Loeb were not mentally responsible for the murder of 14-year-old Robert Franks was made in the presence of Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, who occupied a chair only a few feet from the witness stand.

END TO PULLMAN SURCHARGE URGED

Removal of Railroad Tax on All Intrastate Traffic in Georgia Is Favored.

House committee on general judiciary number two Thursday night favorably reported the bill by Representative Bennett, of Dodge, removing the Pullman surcharge on all intrastate traffic in Georgia; referred a bill to reform laws as to public accounts in Georgia to a special subcommittee, recommended for passage a measure to allow counties with populations between 44,000 and 150,000 to change methods of paying county officers from fee to salary system, and approved two Fulton county proposals to place the solicitor of the superior court and the solicitor of the city court on a salary system.

Representative Bennett spoke on behalf of his bill, branding the surcharge on Pullman fares as unfair. He said that the surcharge was not made in North Carolina, a ruling of the railroad commission in that state having stopped it a year ago, and said that in Virginia it never had been charged. Passage of his bill, he said, would save to the people of Georgia $150,000 annually, now exacted from them under this law.

Southern Opposes Bill.
Sanders McDaniel, appearing against the bill on behalf of the Southern Railway, said:

PEDDLER TAKES $750 SILVER BAR AND WALKS AWAY

New York, July 31.—While armed men guarded the unloading of a truck load of silver bullion in front of a safety deposit company in the center of the financial district today, George Stein, 36, a peddler, picked up a 90-pound silver bar worth $750 and calmly walked away without being observed.

He had gone several blocks, passing thousands of persons, before any one noticed what he was carrying.

Patrolman Brown, who arrested the man, said Stein was staggering under the weight of the bar.

The bill would have re-enacted the federal amusement tax, recently lifted, and the proceeds would have gone to various institutions of higher learning in the state.

Rum Row Fleet Trade Blocked By Tiny Cutter

Little Rum Chaser, Moored
in Center of Fleet, Signals Activities of Outlaws.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31.—Out on the 12-mile limit, commanders of the liquor fleet are eyeing ruefully the tiny cutter Kickapoo, while on the coast, rum-runners are wondering if business will ever be the same again.

The government blockade has tightened and temporarily no booze is finding its way across the waters from rum row.

The Kickapoo steamed out of Cold Spring inlet, Cape May, four days ago and took a position in front of the liquor fleet.

By day, the tiny rum-chaser was moored in the center of the booze fleet. At night, however, the Kickapoo started a continuous patrol of the liquor fleet. Every twenty minutes lights are flashed across the decks of the liquor ships from abroad, and the commander of the Kickapoo scans the decks with high-powered glasses without supplies.

"This makes it virtually impossible for even one or two cases to be put overboard, let alone deliver any of the large liquor shipments which have been coming in from the fleet."

Several of the fast boats which have been busy running booze from the headline to shore have returned to shore without supplies.

Meanwhile, the rum ships continue to warn bootleggers on the shore by huge flares that there is "danger."

MCDONALD'S NAVAL POLICY ATTACKED IN COMMONS ROW

Doubt Expressed Washington Disarmament
Agreement Will Be Extended or Renewed.

BY CHARLES M. MCANN.
London, July 31.—"It would be a bold man who would prophesy that the Washington disarmament agreement will be extended or even renewed in 1931," L. M. S. Amery, former first lord of the admiralty in the last conservative government, told the house of commons during debate on the British naval appropriations bill.

Liberals and conservatives joined in criticism of the government's naval policy, although they attacked from different angles.

Commander Kenworthy assailed the MacDonald government for initiating competition in naval armaments and Sir Godfrey Collins said the United States welcomed such building challenges.

"The first act of this government," Sir Godfrey said, "was to lay down five new cruisers. The United States accepted the challenge. There is the result of always being able to keep ahead of us with their long purse strings and their 100,000,000 population."

Time to Bolster Navy.
Conservative critics of the government insisted the time had come for bolstering Britain's navy.

At the present rate of construction, Amery declared, a few years will find Britain with only 20 effective cruisers for the protection of her commerce.

"I see very little prospect of further disarmament agreement," Amery said. "The disarmament situation is more delicate now than it was three months ago, and it may be years before the problem can be satisfactorily approached."

Commander Carliou Bellars, regarded as the outstanding naval authority in parliament, denied that the naval aspirations of Britain and the United States clashed.

There is no naval rivalry between Britain and the United States, Bellars told the house. Nor is there any direct relation between the sea policies of the two countries.

Protector Against Japan.
"America," Bellars said, "merely is desirous of protecting her interests and commerce against a possible war with Japan."

The whole American naval problem is centered in the Pacific, Bellars assured the house. He said the United States was withdrawing its Atlantic fleet, thus demonstrating that there is no rivalry with Britain.

Like the United States, Britain looks toward Japan, Bellars intimated, adding that unless further disarmament agreements could be reached in another conference, Britain would be forced to meet the challenge which exists in Japan and begin to build destroyers and submarines in pace with the eastern empire.

THEATER TAX OPPOSED

Committee Adverses Proposed Charge by State.

The house ways and means committee, meeting Thursday night, adversely reported a bill proposing a state tax on admission tickets to all places of amusement, where the price is not less than 10 cents nor more than 50 cents.

The bill would have re-enacted the federal amusement tax, recently lifted, and the proceeds would have gone to various institutions of higher learning in the state.

Clash of Solons In House Brings Fight Challenge

MYSTERY SHROUDS KILLING OF YOUTH IN FILLING STATION

LeGray Thaxton Found Dead With Bullet in Brain—Police Looking for Young Woman.

With a bullet through the brain, the lifeless body of LeGray Thaxton, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thaxton, of 361 Lee street, was found Thursday night in the oil room of the gasoline filling station operated by the youth and his father at Houston and Jackson streets.

Police and detectives, working with only meager evidence, are attempting to determine whether the boy ended his own life by sending a bullet through his head, or whether the deed was that of an assassin. In either case police are convinced that a woman—described as a dark-haired Spanish beauty—is implicated, and she is being sought as the key which will clear the entire affair.

Body of Youth Found.
The youth's body was found at about 10:30 o'clock Thursday night by C. B. Johnson, of 48 Whitley street, Hapeville, a jitney driver who entered the filling station to buy gasoline. When repeated blowing of his horn failed to draw attention, Johnson entered the office of the station, but finding it empty, entered the oil room which adjoins the office.

The body of young Thaxton, stretched in a widening pool of blood, confronted the taxi driver and the sight drove him screaming to the street. His cries claimed the attention of H. S. Fite, 32 Rosedale drive, and W. M. Dodd, 24 St. Augustine place, passengers in the bus, who notified police.

As none of the call officers or plainclothes men were at police headquarters at the time, the call was answered by Captain Grover C. Fain, of the evening watch, and Station Lieutenant T. D. Shaw, of the morning watch, who found the boy's body still untouched and lying exactly as it had fallen after the fatal shot.

Pistol Only Clue.
A .38-caliber revolver, lying near the dead youth's feet, which later was identified as one kept at the filling station for protection against bandits, was the only material evidence.

According to the police officers and Detectives J. H. and John C. Davis, who also were assigned to the case, the relative positions of the body and revolver would indicate suicide, but every other indication points to murder, and, lacking a satisfactory motive for suicide, officers are proceeding on the murder theory.

Robbery Not Motive.
Certainly robbery was not the motive, as nearly $100 was found in the place, all of which would have been easily accessible to burglars. Part of the money was in the cash register of the office, and the remainder lying in plain sight on a desk in the outer room. It was thought possible at first that young Thaxton had been killed by robbers, who were frightened off before getting their loot, but the easy access to the currency and change exploded that theory.

Discarding the suicide theory, and the possibility that the boy was killed by bandits, the possibilities that are being considered by the police are:

ASK LOWER RATES ON FARM PRODUCE

Senate Resolution Adopted
Thursday Declares
Farming Retarded by Excessive Freight Charges.

Indication that afternoon sessions may be resorted to by the Georgia senate to relieve the calendar, which is gradually becoming clogged with local and minor bills, was given Thursday when a motion was made that the upper house hold a session Thursday afternoon. The motion, however, was defeated.

There are no matters of legislation of state-wide importance awaiting consideration at present, and the only special order of business scheduled is the bill to substitute the electric chair for hanging, set for next Tuesday. However, there are numerous measures of lesser importance on the senate calendar.

Under the terms of a joint resolution, already adopted by the house and approved by the senate Thursday, members of the Georgia delegation in congress will be called upon to present to the interstate commerce commission the "frightful condition" involved in freight rates in connection with farm produce.

Ennis Invites Culpepper To "Go Outside" If He Wishes To Deny State- ment by the Former.

BIENNIAL SESSIONS
STIR HOUSE FIGHT

Over-Week-End Filibuster Plan Rumored in Order to Postpone Vote Until Next Tuesday.

Enlivened by a challenge from Representative Ennis, of Baldwin, to Representative Culpepper, of Fayette, "to go outside the house" if he desired to state than an assertion made by Ennis was untrue, the house on Thursday afternoon again attacked the calendar of appropriation bills and succeeded in passing one and defeating another. A third was being considered in committee of the whole house when the motion to adjourn was put and carried.

The bill defeated, and the one over which the clash between Ennis and Culpepper arose, was an appropriation of $20,000 to build a new leprosy hospital at the state sanitarium at Milledgeville. This measure was not included in the list approved this year by the appropriations committee, of which Representative Culpepper is chairman. It was, however, approved by the committee last year, but failed to reach the floor for final consideration.

Clash on Floor.
Representative Ennis stated Thursday afternoon, in explaining his vote, that Chairman Culpepper had assured him it was unnecessary for the bill to be passed on by the appropriations committee this year, and therefore it was not sent to that body.

At this point Chairman Culpepper jumped to his feet and demanded recognition, but Mr. Ennis refused to yield the floor, saying:

"I am making a statement that is the absolute truth, and if the chairman of the committee wants to say that it is untrue I will go out of the house with him and give him that opportunity."

In addition to Chairman Culpepper, Representatives Barrett, Boswell and Covington spoke against the bill, claiming that the state did not have the money to build the ice plant at present. Mr. Ennis said that owing to the lack of proper ice-making facilities at the sanitarium, patients were forced to eat food improperly preserved.

On a roll call the bill failed of passage when it received only 93 votes, short of the necessary 104 for passage of an appropriation bill. Those voting against it totaled 66.

Vote To Pay Salary.
The appropriation bill passed during the afternoon session was one to appropriate $1,805.16, to pay salary of the judge of the superior court of the Piedmont circuit from August 15, 1923, to December 23, 1923. The record vote was 140 to 2.

When adjournment came, the house as a committee of the whole, was considering a bill to appropriate $43,943.23, as a deficiency appropriation to Georgia Tech. One speech was made in opposition, on the ground that Tech should be able to maintain itself out of tuition fees and the appropriation already made. However, Representatives Harris, of Jefferson, Barrett, Milner and McCrory spoke in support of the bill.

POWER COMPANY EMPLOYEES MEET

More than 250 employees of the Georgia Railway and Power company, representing those departments which come into direct contact with the public, met in a dinner conference on the Ansley hotel roof Thursday to discuss the question of continuation of the friendly relations existing between the company and its 80,000 customers in Atlanta and surrounding territory. The conference was marked by enthusiastic addresses by H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board, and P. S. Arkwright, president of the company. The departments represented included the treasury branch, composed of cashiers, counterkeepers, and prepay meter readers; telephone operators; accounting department; electric and gas service departments; engineering, transmission, tests and repairs, steam heat, electric operating, and gas mains departments. In addition to these there were approximately 40 guests, including officers of the company. The dinner was enlivened throughout with songs by the power company quartet, and selections by the company orchestra. W. H. Taylor, vice president and general manager, presided. Speeches were followed by a display of motion pictures showing the water power developments in north Georgia.

H. M. Atkinson Speaks.
Relations of the public to public utility corporations are improving, Mr. Atkinson, the first speaker, told his hearers, citing the fact that there are more than 6,000 persons owning stock and bonds of the Georgia Railway and Power company. "The unfriendliness of the public toward utility corporations is deep-seated," said Mr. Atkinson, "but present-day methods of handling public utility business are serving to break down this wall of antagonism, and are bringing greater numbers of the public, with their money, into the business. We now have about 3,000 stockholders. There is a growing means of knowing the number of bondholders, but it is estimated there are approximately 3,000 of this class of investors. The fact that there are more than 10,000 persons who are vitally interested in the welfare of the company is a fact which the public, he right in their own consciousness and you

'Agent', Who Shot Negro Bell-Hop, In Tails of Law

Albany, Ga., July 31.—L. G. Butler, of Camilla, was placed under bond here late last night to answer a charge of assault with intent to murder H. S. Glover, a negro bell boy at the New Albany hotel, Tuesday night.

Deputy Sheriff A. J. Denison swore out the warrant, following investigations he made in the case and legal advice he is said to have secured. Deputy Denison said he ascertained that Butler was not and never has been a federal agent, or an assistant agent, as he claimed he was after he shot the negro, and as prohibition Agent Hudson said he was and that the badge he flashed on the negro was not his. His information, Deputy Denison said, came from Fred Dismuke, of Atlanta, chief prohibition officer for Georgia.

The negro bell boy was shot after he had delivered a pint of whisky to Butler, and after Butler had threatened to arrest him unless he told where the liquor was purchased. "By getting the confidence of the people, you can establish the proper relations," said Butler, "and time make impossibilities possible, my father once told me, and that would be a good sentence for each one of us to stick away in his mind."

Arkwright in Address.
Mr. Arkwright followed Mr. Atkinson, and congratulated those present on being young themselves, and being engaged in a business that is young. "The public utilities," he said, "are not so ancient that they are bound by old traditions, and those engaged in the work of furnishing gas and electric service may bring youth and strength to all their tasks."

"The foundation of good public relations is good service. Render good service first. We do not feel that we deserve the good will of the public unless we render good service. We are engaged in rendering a wonderful useful service at reasonable rates, and you therefore must continue to cultivate the friendly feeling of the public we serve. "Our company is peculiarly dependent on the public's good will. We have to get a franchise to do business, and it comes from the public, through their representatives. From time to time it is necessary to get extensions of these franchises as the demands for our service increases, and it is therefore necessary to continue to cultivate the good-will of our public."

"Good Will Essential."
It is essential to the usefulness of the public utility business that it be supported by the people it serves. President Arkwright said, but it is essential also that the corporation be permitted to earn a reasonable return on the capital invested in such public utilities, and that end good will of the public always is necessary. "This company is doing more to build up the community than any other one influence in it," he added. "We are under constant scrutiny, but there never has been anything disgraceful in the record. We are engaged in performing an honorable and worthy service, of which we all should feel proud."

Entries in Constitution's Annual Beauty Event Continued To Flow In Thursday.

BEAUTIES INVITED TO STUDIO TODAY

To Every Pretty Atlanta Girl:
If you have not yet entered The Constitution's "Miss Atlanta" tournament, you are cordially and personally invited to visit the studio on the sixth floor of The Constitution building today and be photographed. Staff photographers will be on hand throughout the day; every consideration will be shown you, and you'll be welcome. Or, if you desire, you may phone Wesley Hirschburg, well-known Whitehall street photographer, and arrange a definite appointment in his studio. All photos will be made absolutely without charge.

Mayor Walter A. Sims officially will represent the city in the judging of The Constitution's tournament to name "Miss Atlanta" to compete with beauties of a hundred North American cities in the National Beauty Pageant in Atlantic City September 2-6.

This announcement was made Thursday by the management of the tournament, which explained that four other judges—two men and two women—will serve with the mayor in selecting "Miss Atlanta." "Mayor Sims is the first of the five judges appointed," it was announced. "As others are appointed—and they will be selected in the immediate future—their names will be announced." Mayor Sims accepts. Mayor Sims, who served as chairman of the 1923 judges who selected Miss Frances Thayer, of 132 Park drive, as "Miss Atlanta," formally accepted appointment as a 1924 judge Thursday afternoon. "I shall take great pleasure in serving again this year in The Constitution's tournament," he stated, when consulted by the tournament management.

The judging this year will be conducted in the magnificent Georgian ballroom of the Atlanta Biltmore hotel during the week of August 11 to 16.

Many New Entries.
While those in charge of the local beauty event were arranging for appointment of the five 1924 judges, additional entries in the "Miss Atlanta" tourney were coming in throughout Thursday.

Pretty girls in the vicinity of Oakland City and Moxley parks were photographed and entered by staff photographers of The Constitution, who Thursday afternoon were stationed there to accept entries. In addition, numerous others came to the studio on the sixth floor of The Constitution building, or visited the studio of Wesley Hirschburg on Whitehall street to be photographed and entered.

The total of entries was approximately 300 at the 300 mark Thursday night, and on the eve of the close of the week for receiving entries the tournament management issued a warning that those who desired to enter the event should do so without delay. "At the close of tomorrow the tournament will have run three full weeks," it was stated, "and on August 11."

BRYAN PREDICTS DAVIS WILL WIN

Miami, Fla., July 31.—William Jennings Bryan tonight predicted that the progressive democrats, combined with the progressive element in the republican party, would defeat Calvin Coolidge for reelection. Mr. Bryan addressed his home folks on the work of the national convention in New York a few hours before he left for the north on a speaking tour for his party's ticket.

John W. Davis' speeches will overcome the assumptions raised against him, Mr. Bryan said. "When Davis takes the platform on his campaign tour, he is going to rally every progressive democrat in the country as well as many progressive republicans, who will find the reactionary principles of Coolidge and Davies unpalatable. "And when the progressives of the northwest go to vote, and they know that La Follette cannot be elected no matter how much they are urged, they are going to vote for the next best man in their opinion, who can be elected, Davis."

ASKS ASSISTANCE OF BOY SCOUTS TO NAB "TIGERS"

New Orleans, July 31.—O. D. Jackson, state prohibition director, in a letter today to Friend E. Hoyt, Boy Scout commissioner in this district, suggested a plan of cooperation of Boy Scouts in assisting agents in the detection of violators of the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Jackson's idea, the letter says, is to have the Boy Scouts telephone or write his office when they learn of places where liquor is being manufactured or sold. Acting on this information, he said, agents would take the necessary steps to have the violator arrested. "As patriotism, right living and a respect for law are three of the principal tenets of the Boy Scouts organization, I am of the opinion that the boys could be of great assistance to us in our work," Mr. Jackson said.

It was understood Mr. Hoyt would take up the question with officers of the Boy Scout command. August 9—one week hence—no more entries will be received. While several days yet remain for pretty girls to enter, those who have been hesitating or delaying should not do so no longer, but should become applicants for mally for the honor of bearing Atlanta's beauty title of the premiere American beauty pageant at Atlantic City.

"Everyone knows that it's a matter of poor judgment to wait until the last minute to do a thing, and all pretty girls who desire to enter should lay their plans to do so at once."

Every Beauty Wanted.
The tournament management also explained that every girl in Atlanta to enter the tournament. "We want the girl who wins the title of 'Miss Atlanta' to really deserve it. The more entrants the more likely she will deserve her distinction. Therefore, every pretty girl in Atlanta or any of its suburbs (including Decatur), or any part of Fulton county, is cordially and personally invited to enter."

In addition to being supplied with a gorgeous wardrobe and accessories by Martin Amorous, Jr., foremost designer of the south, and numerous merchants of Atlanta, the winner of the tournament is a champion of her own choosing will be sent to Atlantic City with all expenses paid to participate in a week of colorful carnival events on the famous and fashionable boardwalk. Here is an entry blank. Clip it out, fill it in properly and present it either at the studio on the sixth floor of The Constitution building or at the studio of Wesley Hirschburg.

Work of Training School in Saving Youths Is Shown

The annual report of the Georgia Training School for Boys at Milledgeville tells a vivid story of the wonderful work which is being done at this institution in reclaiming boys who have been branded as "wayward" in their home communities and bringing them back to that point where they return to the world as good citizens and worthy wearers of the name "Georgian."

The report, which has been presented to the governor and legislature, also carries a story of struggle and suffering to make ends meet at the institution, and tells of many almost imperative needs unfulfilled by lack of sufficient funds from the state. It also tells of many scores of boys who, probably, would be restored to honest citizenship if they could come to the school. These are refused admission because of lack of money and room at the school, and who are thus left to live in prisons and chain gangs and in the state-fostered for the criminal juggernaut of the future.

The Greatest Need.
In the report of the superintendent, it is said that improvements of the cottages in which the workers live and the home for the negro boys form perhaps the most imperative call for aid. These buildings are in desperate need of repair. However, if the work assigned to go on, continues the report, more dormitory space, preferably cottages, as well as trained workers, closer personal supervision and study of the individual pupil, must be provided. There also is great need of means of giving high school education, of teaching trades, of a better diet, and of better facilities for follow-up work, the report says.

The story of one boy, from the time he came to the institution, fresh from the county jail, until the day when he was sent, a reformed boy, to a good home which had been found for him, makes fascinating reading.

Report of Treasurer.
Report of the treasurer shows total receipts of $32,706.71, with a cash balance on hand June 1, 1924, of $166.80. During the year from June, 1923, to June, 1924, 209 boys were under the care of the school, 84 on parole and 125 at the school. It is also pointed out that on a conservative estimate, the school should be equipped to accommodate 350 boys annually. During the year the school has been forced to refuse admission to applications from Butts, Floyd, Hall, Lee, Muscogee, Newton, Polk, Stewart, Taylor, Tift, Upson, Wilkes, and Yamacraw counties.

Mrs. Orian W. Manson is superintendent of the school and the board of managers is composed of F. J. Paxton, Atlanta, chairman; John R. L. Smith, Macon, chairman budget committee; Dr. Carlton B. Gibson, Savannah; Dr. Charles S. Floyd, secretary-treasurer, Logansville; Mrs. Nichols Peterson, Tifton; Dr. T. F. Abernethy, Atlanta; Dr. N. H. Ballard, Atlanta.

WALLACE SAYS AGENTS AIDING ANTHRAX WORK

Memphis, Tenn., July 31.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in a telegram today to Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, of Tennessee, advised the senator that agents of the department of agriculture had been assigned to cooperate with Arkansas and Mississippi state officials in anthrax control work and that the department now was in telegraphic communication with its representatives in the states in which anthrax was prevalent to determine what further measures were necessary to handle the situation.

The telegram was in response to one from Senator McKellar in which he advised Mr. Wallace of the situation in the central southern states as outlined by state officials at a conference here several days ago and urged the need of federal assistance in coping with the disease. Mr. Wallace pointed out in his telegram that he had been informed that the outbreak in Tennessee was under control and explained also that only limited funds were at the disposal of the department for this work.

The text of the telegram follows: "Department is co-operating with state officials of Arkansas and Mississippi and has assigned employees to anthrax control work in those states. Informed that outbreak in five counties in Tennessee under control. Funds available for this work here are limited, owing to failure of congress to pass bill carrying $3,000,000 emergency appropriation to fight foot and mouth disease and other contagious diseases. Department now in telegraphic communication with our representatives in states concerned to determine what further measures are necessary to handle the situation."

OKLAHOMA TO ENFORCE ANTHRAX QUARANTINE

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 31.—A quarantine against the admission of live stock into Oklahoma from the states of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi, because of the existence of anthrax in sections of those states, was ordered today by John A. White, president of the state board of agriculture.

MALE BUTTERFLIES DRUNK ON LIQUOR; FEMALES BEHAVE

London, July 31.—Male butterflies like to get drunk while female ones shun liquor and are perfectly content with water as a beverage, is the discovery of the zoologist, Sutt, after experiments along these lines. He kept all sorts of butterflies in wire screened garden and exposed several bowls containing either pure water or whisky of different brands. The males invariably took to the liquor bowls and sipped so long that they fell off the brim and rolled on the ground.

The females, however, behaved and without exception shunned the alcohol.

Asthma and Hay Fever A Guaranteed Relief

"I have arranged with all druggists here, as well as in all other towns of the U. S., that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever or Bronchitis, Asthma, can try my treatment entirely at my risk." Dr. R. Schiffmann announces. He says: "Buy a package of your Asthma, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to your druggist and he will return your money, cheerfully and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases which had been considered incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am so sure that it will do the same for others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneously. Druggists, anywhere, handling Asthma will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthma." Also sent on same guarantee, per parcel post, C. O. D. JOHN O'DONNELL DIES AT HOSPITAL

John W. O'Donnell, well-known Georgian, and a resident of Atlanta for more than 30 years, died Thursday afternoon at St. Joseph's infirmary, following an illness of three weeks. He was stricken with malarial fever while camping in south Georgia about three weeks ago, and the illness, coupled with a recurrence of heart trouble, with which he was afflicted several years ago, proved fatal.

Mr. O'Donnell, who was 55 years old, was born in Granada, Miss., and received his education at Memphis and Anniston, Ala. At the age of 25 he moved to Atlanta, and soon after coming here became affiliated with the Dobbs & Way Co., wholesale china, glass and crockery dealers. He traveled the south Georgia territory for that concern until 1914, when he became ill, and was unable to engage actively in business until 1918, when he rejoined the Dobbs & Way Co., and again took over the south Georgia territory. He left the concern early in 1923, took charge of the local branch of an Indianapolis china and glass company, with offices at 103 1/2 Ivy street.

In 1919 he married Miss Leodocia Beck, who at that time also was an employee of the Dobbs & Way company and whom he met through his connection with the firm. He was well known throughout the southern part of Georgia and had many friends in Atlanta. He was a member of the Sacred Heart church. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning from the Sacred Heart church and interment will be in West View, with Barclay & Brandon officiating.

KILLS HOUSEKEEPER AND COMMITTS SUICIDE

New York, July 31.—Charles Blatt, 36, shot and killed his housekeeper, Sarah Ta box, 55, and then committed suicide by shooting himself at his home at Staten Island today. A diamond-encrusted belt which had been given to Blatt many years ago in recognition of his power as a weight lifter was the cause of the tragedy, relatives said. The woman was reported to have objected to the sale of the belt by Blatt. A quarrel and the shooting followed.

New Method of Dynamiting

Speeds Stone Mountain Work

More than 400 tons of granite were blown from the sheer side of Stone Mountain and precipitated to the plain below early Thursday afternoon, when Gutzon Borglum's men demonstrated to upwards of 100 prominent Atlantans and several out-of-town visitors the effectiveness of a new method of dynamiting, which engineers under Mr. Borglum's direction have evolved, and which is expected to greatly facilitate the actual carving of the great Confederate memorial.

The new method, it was explained by the sculptor, is calculated to prevent injury to the stone which is not to be cut away, and is said to be a more expedient method of removing the bulk of undesired granite.

The demonstration of the big barbed on the memorial grounds at which Colonel William Lawson Peel entertained members of the executive board of the Stone Mountain Memorial association and a number of other prominent citizens.

Work Progressing Faster.

A general revivification of interest and progress of the actual work seemed to result from the occasion. Following the elaborate feast, at which barbed wire was the main feature, Brunswick steak and the usual accessories were served, several spirited talks were made. Perhaps the most interesting was the one by Mr. Borglum himself, who disclosed the new process of dynamiting, the work has progressed with more rapidity than at any time since the memorial was begun. This announcement brought prolonged applause from the band of enthusiastic supporters of the enterprise.

Another announcement of importance was made by Mr. Borglum, who stated that the work on the project is progressing "very nicely."

Mecca for Tourists.

Miss Gladys Hanson, the actress, told the assemblage that recently at the home of a noted artist, where more than 20 artists were present, it was the common opinion of the group when the Confederate memorial is completed, Atlanta will be the scene for tourists from every part of the globe.

Other speakers were John S. Cohen, Dr. Plato Durham, Attorney General George M. Napier, Mrs. T. E. Greer, and others, all of whom are members of the state senate, and Hollins Randolph.

FATAL TO OLD FARMER

Fredericksburg, Va., July 31.—Richard Campbell, 65, Caroline county farmer, who was the victim last night of an attack by two negroes, died this morning at the Oteen hospital, after being administered by his assailants a beating and burns sustained in escaping from his burning dwelling.

Neighbors, attracted to Campbell's home early this morning by fire which completely destroyed the building, found the aged farmer badly beaten and burned and wounded. A physician was immediately summoned, but all efforts to save the man's life proved futile when he succumbed to his injuries late this afternoon.

COOLIDGE'S HUM

FOR RAIL REPEL

Washington, July 31.—Despite concurrence by John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, in the opposition of his running mate, Governor Bryan, of Nebraska, to some features of the government's defense of President Coolidge's proposed decision against any personal entry into the political phases of the controversy.

Coolidge today received and replied to a telegram from Governor Bryan relating to controversial features of the defense program, but refused to make any public statement. White house officials declared Mr. Coolidge felt that to make public his reply would give the impression he was taking sides in the controversy, a political incident, whereas he preferred to regard Mr. Bryan's inquiry and his own reply as correspondence ordinarily taking place between the governor of a state and the president.

Keep Bryan Telegram Private.

White house and war department officials alike refused to make public the Governor Bryan's telegram received early in the day, asserting that to do so would be discourteous to the president. It was understood to have propounded several inquiries as to the plans of the war department, and Mr. Coolidge's opinion on the subject. The telegram was received by Major General John L. Hines, deputy chief of staff and present acting secretary of the war department.

The conference with General Hines, combined with visits to the white house by Attorney General Clegg, Secretary of State Grew and others, kept the president in his office most of the day and he consequently was unable to give any time to the writing of his note of appreciation to the governor for his letter of appreciation to the president.

DAVIS INDORSES

STAND ON BRYAN.

New York, July 31.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, announced today after his return from Maine that he was in entire agreement with the running mate, Governor Bryan, of Nebraska, regarding "Mobilization Day."

Mr. Davis declared that the view expressed by the governor Bryan that there was no necessity at this time for encouraging civilians to leave their occupations "for the purpose of making a military demonstration" was a practical educational effect is entirely sound.

$30,000 Asked for Georgia Exhibit at New York Show

Appropriation of $30,000 to finance Georgia's participation in the Southern Exposition in New York city next January was asked in a bill introduced in the legislature Thursday. It was referred to the committee on appropriations.

The following representatives introduced the measure: R. B. Russell, Jr., of Barrow; W. H. Burr, of Dougherty; Lee J. Langley, of Floyd; Thomas F. Fleming, of Hancock; A. Stanley Bussey, of Crisp, and W. G. Sullivan, of Chatham.

Provision is made that the money be assigned to the department of agriculture and expended under direction of the governor and commissioner of agriculture, with assistance of the state geologist. If the measure is passed, the exhibit covering a wide range of Georgia's agricultural, horticultural and mineral resources is to be assembled by the State College of Agriculture and by Dr. W. S. McCullie, state geologist.

A Georgia Military academy cadet, P. B. Rainey, of Waynesboro, Fla., made the highest score in the pistol target shooting at Camp McDaniel, Ga., in a contest held Thursday. His score was 93 1/3 per cent, sufficient to win a try at the Olympic contest. Rainey was a member of the rifle team at G. M. A. and played tackle on the football team.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO CONSIDER LAWS ON CHILD WELFARE

A measure introduced by Mrs. Napier, of Bibb, designed to codify all state laws relating to child labor and child welfare, was referred to a special subcommittee by house committee on general judiciary No. 1, at a meeting held Thursday afternoon.

The subcommittee is composed of Mrs. Napier and Representatives Howard of Screven and Aubrey of Bartow. It is similar to a bill introduced in the senate by President Carswell.

$25,000 SUIT FILED AGAINST JOHN MANGET

Suit for $25,000 damages was filed against John A. Manget, Atlanta business man, Thursday in Fulton superior court by Geraldine Mizs, 6, through her mother, Mrs. Ethel Mizs, for injuries alleged to have been received by the child July 28, when she was run down by an automobile said to have been driven by Manget's chauffeur.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Washington street and Woodward avenue. The child was run over by a touring car driven by Henry West, who was in the employ of Mr. Manget, the petition alleged. Attorney Hayne Matheson represents the plaintiff.

The exposition will be staged in Grand Central palace, New York city, January 19 to 31, and will be participated in by ten southern states.

MACON MERCHANTS FLAM BIG EXHIBIT.

Macon, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Macon business men have agreed to underwrite a contract for 600 feet of floor space for the Macon exhibit at the southern exposition, to be held at the Grand Central Palace in New York next January.

Rental for the space will be $1,800. The commercial, industrial and educational advantages of the city will be shown.

The city of Macon will take 200 feet of the 600-foot allotment. Among the large concerns that will have exhibits will be the Central Georgia Power company, the Standard Brick company and the Case-Fowler Lumber company.

NEW ANTI-FEE BILL AFFECTS 5 COUNTIES

A new anti-fee system bill, designed to apply to five of the larger counties of the state, was introduced in the house of representatives at the Thursday afternoon session.

The bill is drawn to affect counties with populations between 45,000 and 150,000, thus affecting Richmond, Chatham, Bibb, Muscogee and DeKalb. It provides that the question shall be placed before the voters of those counties at a referendum to be held on September 10, 1924, which is the date of the state-wide primaries, and that the change shall go into effect only in those counties where a majority of the voters vote for it. In those counties proving it, it will become effective January 1, 1926.

The bill was signed by all members of the delegations of the five counties concerned except Rowe, of Richmond, and Eyre, of Chatham.

Fulton county is covered in a special bill which has been favorably recommended by a house committee.

Inspection Urged Of Soldiers' Home By Superintendent

Branding as false and scurrilous charges recently made in the legislature as to the conditions at the Old Soldiers' home, W. E. McAllister, superintendent, issued a statement Thursday inviting thorough inspection of the home. His statement is as follows:

In view of the false and scurrilous reports with reference to conditions at the Old Soldiers' home, an invitation is extended to the public and especially members of the general assembly to visit the home at any time and see for themselves whether or not we have what we claim: a clean, sanitary and comfortable home.

The writer feels that it is really due him that this should be done. No idea can be formed of the wonderful improvements which have been made without seeing the place.

Weather in July Was Most Fickle In Recent Years

With fair and warm weather forecast today, the first of August, Atlanta and the south moved Thursday out of the most fickle July weather on recent weather records, but which for the last two weeks has been effective in speeding healthy development of cotton and other crops and in ripening a bumper fruit crop.

It was revealed Thursday by C. F. von Neumann, meteorologist of the local office of the United States weather bureau.

Reports from Georgia and other southern states indicate that three weeks of hot, dry weather just closed has furthered the progress of all farm crops and, if continued for another similar period, may make this the biggest crop year since the war.

Only 3-10 Above Normal.

Although the hottest weather in 10 years was experienced on three successive days, July 21-23, the average temperature for the month was only three-tenths of one degree higher than normal, by virtue of the fact that the last two weeks of hot weather were balanced by an initial two weeks of weather nearly four degrees below normal. During three hottest days, temperatures went eight degrees above normal.

Warm weather began on July 14 and, after an experimental flourish or two, the mercury clambered up to 90 degrees on July 16 and went up to or way above that mark on each succeeding day, including the last day of the month, when it reached 93 degrees.

Rainfall during the month just ended was unusual, not only in that it was nine-hundredths of an inch more than normal, but because 4.99 inches out of the total 4.73 inches fell during the first two weeks, making the latter part of the month dry save for scattered thundershowers.

The heaviest rain was on July 3, when 1.83 inches fell.

The year, up to date, has been unusually cool and unusually dry. Mr. von Neumann's records revealed.

Average temperatures have been 2.1 degrees below normal and the total rainfall of 28.89 inches for the seven months is 2.52 inches below normal for the corresponding period of all past years on record.

August of last year was both hotter and more dry than normal, registering a total rainfall of 4.17 inches, or .31 inches below normal, and an average temperature of 77.4 degrees, which was three-tenths of a degree hotter than July of last year and four-tenths of a degree above normal.

If the month which began this morning, keeps pace with the one just ended, it will be a scorching because July, 1924, averaged temperatures 1.4 degrees higher than July of last year, in spite of the two weeks of unusually cool weather with which it began.

FAMILY IS SAVED FROM FIRE DEATH BY TOURIST PARTY

Coleman Campbell, manager of the shoe department of Daniel Brothers company, and members of his family, nearly lost their lives early Thursday morning in a fire that destroyed their residence on the Fairburn road. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

Members of the Campbell family, who were sleeping soundly while the flames were rapidly enveloping the home, were awakened by a party of motorists from Roanoke, Ala., consisting of Joe Carroll, P. Wylie, B. Land and Luther Bevis.

Flames believed to have been caused by sparks from a passing locomotive Thursday night threatened serious damage to the plant of Montag Brothers, 182 Marietta street, and adjoining buildings. Quick work by the firemen, however, soon had the blaze extinguished, and very little damage resulted.

GRADY HOSPITAL EXPLOSION LIKELY TO COST MAN EYE

George Stevens, 23, employee of Grady hospital, who was burned Wednesday morning in an explosion in the drug supply room, caused by a lighted match being held too close to alcohol. Thursday night was reported by doctors to be resting comfortably.

It is feared, however, that he will lose the sight of his right eye, in addition to being permanently scarred about the face, arms and hands.

Stevens had gone into the drug supply room to get some denatured alcohol, and a lighted match caused the explosion.

Pasteur Treatment Used on Little Girl Bitten by Mad Dog

Catherine Evans, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Evans, 82 Grant street, Thursday began the Pasteur treatment at Grady hospital for a wound on the ankle resulting from the bite of a dog which is believed to be suffering from rabies.

The animal attacked the child within a short distance of her home, following her on the porch, where it sunk its teeth in her leg.

Captain Grover C. Fain, in charge of the evening watch at police station, Thursday afternoon again urged members of his detail to use every effort to enforce the law with reference to dogs without muzzles roaming the streets.

Seven dogs, believed to have been suffering from rabies, were killed by police Wednesday.

STATE MUTUAL LIFE REPORTS PROGRESS

The semi-annual statement of the State Mutual Life of Massachusetts, which appears in today's issue of The Constitution, shows that the company is continuing its usual progress that has been manifested annually during its 80 years of business life.

The Georgia agency, under Frank W. Burr, general agent, also is progressive. In June this agency led all the agencies of the company in number of lives insured, and Benjamin Neely, of the agency, ranked second for the month among all representatives in volume of business produced.

FORTUNE TELLER BLAMED BY WIFE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Blaming stories her husband said a fortune teller told him about alleged meetings between her and other men, as the cause of his refusal to support her, Mrs. Cornelia Inez Henry filed suit for divorce in Fulton superior court Thursday. The defendant, Melvin Norman Henry, appeared to believe the stories of the fortune teller, the petition said, refusing further attention to the wife. Attorney Frank Guess represents the petitioner.

COCA-COLA COMPANY MEETING POSTPONED

Directors of the Coca-Cola company met at noon Thursday and, failing to secure a quorum, adjourned to meet again on August 25. It was announced Thursday by Turner Jones, of the public relations department.

FAVORS ELECTION OF DEPARTMENTAL HEADS BY COUNCIL

City council will be invested with authority to name all city department heads not elected by the people under provisions of an ordinance by Councilman J. Allen Couch recommended for passage by the ordinance committee Thursday afternoon.

It would shear council committees of authority to elect city park manager, sanitary chief, police chief, city health officer, superintendent of Grady hospital, Battle Hill tuberculosis sanitarium and the city prison, making all of them elective by city council.

The Couch ordinance broadens effect of the Carpenter ordinance, adopted several weeks ago, taking authority to elect the chief of police away from the police committee and investing it in council.

The ordinance will receive councilmanic action Monday.

SPEAKER NEILL RULES WIMBERLY WAS RIGHT

After the right of Representative Hal Wimberly, of Laurens, to vote as a member of the house committee on general judiciary number two, had been challenged, Speaker W. Cecil Neill was called on, at a recent meeting of the committee, to rule on the question. The question arose over the vote on a bill to create a city court for the town of Blue Ridge, in Fannin county, which was approved by a vote of 11 to 9, at the first hearing.

Representative Wimberly, however, in the printed list of committees, is given as a member of judiciary committee one, and not of judiciary committee two. He had voted for the Fannin county bill. Representative Greer, of Macon, had also voted for it, and his vote was challenged on the same grounds.

Representative Greer admitted he had made a mistake, having been un-

SIX-DAY COURSES OFFERED TEACHERS IN CHURCH SCHOOL

Six-day courses in the Emory university summer school were announced Thursday for teachers in the beginners' department of the church school.

These courses are as follows: Organization, beginning August 1; materials, beginning August 9, and workshop, beginning August 20. The limit of one week has been placed on each course.

Under the impression that the hearing was before the committee on counties and county matters, of which he is a member.

Representative Wimberly, however, defended his right to vote as member of judiciary committee two, despite the evidence of the printed roster.

Speaker Neill stated that Mr. Wimberly had asked to be changed from judiciary committee one to two, and therefore his vote was legal. By a vote of 18 to 8, the committee reaffirmed its original action.

LAX DIVORCE LAWS ASSAILED BY JUDGE

Lax divorce laws are making it too easy to disrupt life's most sacred relation, according to Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the United States district court. This opinion is expressed in an article contributed to the August number of The City Builder, an interesting journal of civic betterment issued monthly by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Judge Sibley's leading article is only one of a large number of interesting contributions. John N. Holder, head of the highway department and former speaker of the Georgia house of representatives, writes on good roads, while C. L. Williamson discusses the Southern Exposition to meet in New York January 19-31, 1925. Many interesting features and departments add to the interest of the number.

PERSIA PLEDGES COMPLETE AMEND

Washington, July 31.—The Persian government has assured the state department it will take steps with regard to the Imbrie incident that will leave "no ground whatever for any anxiety on the part of the United States government."

Repeating to the American communication, demanding full protection for American citizens in Persia and threatening to break off diplomatic relations as a result of the killing of Vice Consul Robert Imbrie and the subsequent attack upon his widow, the Persian government declared it would "repair the incident and fulfill the points that are suggested" by the United States.

The reply said also that the imperial government "is making extreme efforts in pursuing and punishing the persons who caused and perpetrated the killing of Mr. Imbrie and it will not hesitate to take any kind of steps in this connection."

Concerning the question of security of American nationals in Persia, and particularly American official representatives, the communication says: "The Persian government has always considered and will continue to consider this as its positive duty and gives assurances that it will by no means hesitate to fulfill this duty."

The Persian note was forwarded to Washington by American Minister Kornfeldt, at Teheran, to whom it had been addressed by the Persian foreign minister. It apparently was a full acceptance of the American demand that reparation be made, that those involved be punished, that Persia bear the cost of sending an American warship to bring home the body of the murdered vice consul, and that there be complete protection be given American citizens.

"As your excellency has observed, the government and people of Persia are extremely grieved and depressed by the lamentable incident of Friday, July 18, (the day on which Vice Consul Imbrie was killed) and have expressed their feelings to that effect in numerous instances and in various ways."

"You state that your excellency's government does not desire to approach the situation in such manner as to offend my government. The Persian government regards this as an evidence of the unequivocal good will and friendship of the American government and requests your excellency to be good enough to communicate its thanks and appreciation to the authorities of your great government."

"As I stated in the course of my letter number 9155, the imperial government is making extreme efforts in pursuing and punishing the persons who caused and perpetrated the killing of Mr. Imbrie and it will not hesitate to take any kind of steps in this connection. Up to the present time the action of the government in pursuing this object has proceeded with rapidity. Many of the persons who were either suspected or were accused of committing the crime have, regardless of the class to which they belong, been arrested. Other persons who participated will shortly, as a result of the vigorous efforts of the government, be apprehended and the culprits will receive drastic punishment after their trial."

"I also feel it again necessary to give your excellency the assurance that the imperial government is extremely desirous of repairing the above mentioned regrettable incident."

WILL MAKE AMENDS.
"Considering the official status of Mr. Imbrie, the deceased, the Persian government agrees with the suggestions of the United States government that the body of Mr. Imbrie be accorded honors during its transportation. The Persian government is concerned over this matter to such an extent that it would ship the remains of a Persian man-of-war if Persia possessed one. But inasmuch as it is unable to do so it agrees to pay the expense of the transportation of the body of an American man-of-war to receive the remains."

"Your excellency has already been advised verbally and in writing as to the Persian government's desire to relieve and console the widow of the deceased consul."

4 PERSONS SHOT AT ALEX RIOT

Haverhill, Mass., July 31.—Four men were shot early today when hostile crowds clashed with between 2,000 and 3,000 members of the Ku Klux Klan, who held a meeting late in the evening on a hill in the neighborhood of Groveland. State and local police at length quelled the disorders, taking into custody 23 men, including three of the wounded men, and confiscated six shotguns, several revolvers and quantities of ammunition.

The disorders broke out at the conclusion of a Klan initiation ceremony on Perry Hill, Groveland, and spread as a mob of 1,000 automobiles bearing klansmen from Worcester, Boston and Springfield and other cities traveled from the meeting place, Groveland, over the road toward Haverhill. Shots were fired and many missiles were thrown at the passing cars, but so far as is known, no one was injured.

None of the injured men, all of whom suffered gunshot wounds in the legs, was believed to be seriously hurt. Francis C. Cote, Edmund J. Cote, and a fourth named Buckley, all of Haverhill, were in one automobile. They alleged that they were fired upon by klansmen in a large truck when they attempted to pass the vehicle after state police had signaled them to move ahead.

Approximately half of the score of men arrested were Haverhill residents, and the others were from Massachusetts cities, as far west as Worcester. All were charged with disturbing the peace.

About 300 armed guards surrounded the 10-acre field in Groveland, in which the ceremony took place in progress last night, witnesses said. A crowd of about 400 men collected outside the field, but although hostile, no disorder was reported until about 1 o'clock this morning when the meeting ended and the klansmen, openly armed, witnesses said, marched to the field. The cars were a measure of precaution against attack.

Large numbers of the Klan group were apparently former service men, wearing army uniforms. Stones were hurled at the machines and occasional shots were fired as they drove toward Haverhill. The firing and stone throwing increased as the klansmen entered Haverhill and it was in Haverhill that all of the arrests were made, before the last of the Klan cars had disappeared. Arrests appeared to be approximately evenly divided between persons attending the Klan meeting and opposing it.

Pershing Ready To Take to Mat On Defense Day

New York, July 31.—"Let me say right now that I am ready and every ex-service man is ready to go to the mat on this question of national defense."

That was the militant declaration of General John J. Pershing upon his return Thursday from a month's trip abroad. He returned aboard the S. S. George Washington.

Defense day was planned because of the war in Europe. We stand on national defense," General Pershing said. "We have on the statute books laws based on our own experiences as a nation, which contemplate the organization in time of peace of a skeleton force that can be expanded in a moment. It is not strictly voluntary and entirely non-militaristic."

"The late war for us may be likened to a fire, as may any of our wars. We have had to carry war in buckets to put out these fires, which has been a very expensive method. Now we think we should have a volunteer fire department. We are going to test the company and try out the fire house. We have been running to these fires for 150 years, each man with a bucket of water, but we hope this preparedness will make that no longer necessary."

General Pershing went abroad with members of the American battle line, and he visited the American battle grounds and American cemeteries with the view of setting up monuments to the American soldier dead.

LAWYERS ARE GUESTS AT MANY FUNCTIONS

Paris, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—The visiting American and Canadian lawyers today continued the round of receptions and festivities which had been arranged in their honor while their leader, Secretary of State Hughes, regrettably succumbed to his French hosts and went on to Brussels.

The morning and early afternoon were spent in a sort of conducted tour of the Versailles chateau and park, relieved by a banquet in the Orangerie at noon. The visit to the chateau wound up in the "Hall of the American Independence," where British and French signed the treaty which put an end to their share in the war, which gave the American colonies their freedom.

After a few hours of hasty sight-seeing, the party returned to Paris for two more receptions, one by the Franco-American committee and another by the French hosts and went on to Brussels.

THE CHARGE OF THE BOBBED BRIGADE

By R. Montgomery.
Bobbed hair to the right of us,
Bobbed hair to the left of us,
Bobbed hair behind us,
Tresses asundered.
Some with a heavy crop,
Some with a light crop,
Into the barber shop
Walked the bobbed hundred.

Women of high degree,
Women past fifty-three,
Determined that they shall be
One of the numbered.
Women of every class,
Mother, daughter, little lass,
Sweetheart, sister, join the mass
Of the bobbed hundred.

Some with bangs, some without,
Some are shingled around about,
Some in curls, and some in doubt.
In case they have blundered,
Some of them do look real swell,
Some of them do look like—well,
It's sometimes not just well to tell How look the bobbed hundred!

chopped down enough trees to build a

Thoughts on My Tailor.

He has my number.
He gives fits and misfits as well,
Charging for both.
He can size me up, if he can't suit
me with a suit.
He, at least, knows the measure of his mate.
He should be successful in love, for he has cut out the suit of many a man.
Some day both fame and fortune will be his when he has invented a trousers pocket that a man's wife cannot pick successfully.
When my tailor gives my suit extra touches or trimmings, I get trimmed in his bill.
May my tailor go to heaven when he dies unless, of course, he should wish to roast his goose.

White Fang

BY JACK LONDON

The months passed by. Still continued the journey of Gray Beaver.
White Fang's strength was developed by the long hours on trail and the steady toil at the sled; and it would have seemed that his mental development was well-nigh complete. He had come to know quite thoroughly the world in which he lived. His outlook was bleak and materialistic. The world as he saw it was a fierce and brutal world, a world without warmth, a world in which carresses and affection and the bright sweetnesses of the spirit did not exist.

He had no affection for Gray Beaver. True, he was a god, but a most savage god. White Fang was glad to acknowledge his lordship, but it was a lord ship based upon superior intelligence and brute strength. There was something in the fibre of White Fang's being that made this lordship a thing to be desired, else he would not have come back from the Wild when he did to tender his allegiance.

There were deeps in his nature which had never been sounded. A kind word, a caressing touch of the hand, on the part of Gray Beaver, might have sounded these deeps; but Gray Beaver did not care nor speak kind words. It was not his way. His primacy was savage, and savagely he ruled, administering justice with a club, punishing transgression with the pain of a blow, and rewarding merit, not by kindness, but by withholding a blow.

So White Fang knew nothing of the heaven a man's hand might contain for him. Besides, he did not like the hands of the man-animals.
He was suspicious of them. It was true that they sometimes gave meat, but more often they gave hurt. Hands were things to keep away from. They hurled stones, wielded sticks and clubs and whips, administered slaps and clouts, and when they touched him, were cunning to hurt with pinch and twist and wrench. In strange villages he had encountered the hands of the children and learned that they were cruel to hurt. Also, he had once nearly had an eye poked out by a toddling papoose. From these experiences he became suspicious of all children. He could not tolerate them.

When they came near with their ominous hands, he got up.

It was in a village at the Great Slave Lake, that, in the course of the two years, and this boy guarded. Holding his club prepared to strike, he drew in on his cornered quarry. White Fang was furious.
He faced the boy, bristling and snarling, his sense of justice outraged.

He knew the law of forage. All the wastage of meat, such as the frozen chips, belonged to the dog that found it. He had done no wrong, broken no law, yet here was this boy preparing to give him a beating. White Fang scarcely knew what happened.
He did it in a surge of rage. And he did it so quickly that the boy did not know, either. All the boy knew was that he had in some unaccountable way been overturned into the snow, and that his club-hand had been ripped wide open by White Fang's teeth.

But White Fang knew that he had broken the law of the gods. He had driven his teeth into the sacred flesh of one of them, and could expect nothing but a most terrible punishment.
He fled away to Gray Beaver, behind whose protecting legs he crouched when the bitten boy and the boy's family came, demanding vengeance. But they went away with vengeance unsatisfied. Gray Beaver defended White Fang. So did Mit-sah and Kloot-kooch. White Fang, listening to the words war and watching the angry gestures, knew that his act was justified. And so it came that he learned there were gods and gods.

There were his gods, and there were other gods, and between them there was a difference. Justice or injustice, it was all the same, he must take all things from the hands of his own gods. But he was not compelled to take justice from the other gods. It was his privilege to resent it with his teeth. And this also was a law of the gods.

Before the day was out, White Fang was to learn more about this law. Mit-sah, alone, gathering firewood in the forest, encountered the boy that had been bitten. With him were other boys. Hot words passed.

Then all the boys attacked Mit-sah.
It was going hard with him. Blows were raining upon him from all sides.
White Fang looked on at first. This was an affair of the gods, and no concern of his. Then he realized that this was Mit-sah, one of his own particular gods, who was being maltreat-ed. It was no reasoned impulse that made White Fang do that he then did. A mad rush of anger sent him leaping in amongst the combatants.
Five minutes later the landscape was covered with fleeing boys, many of whom dripped blood upon the snow.
It was taken that White Fang's teeth had not been idle. When Mit-sah told his story in camp, Gray Beaver ordered, next to be given, and White Fang, gorged and sleepy by the fire, knew that the law had received its verification.

ABANDON PLAN FOR PITCHES FOR FIGHT TUESDAY

Plans for a fight card here next Tuesday night with Billy McGowan, Atlanta light heavyweight, mixing with Jackie Clark, former A. E. F. middleweight champion, of Allentown, Pa., in one of the feature bouts, were abandoned last night by members of the Olympia Athletic club. Failure of the club to get all arrangements completed for promotion of this fight and series of later scraps was given as the reason for the abandonment of the plans.

Tentative plans, announced last night, call for the McGowan-Clark scrap to go on here about August 15, when the Olympia club expects to be a recognized fight promoting agency, with full credentials from the Atlanta boxing commission.

Kinsey To Meet Johnston Today

Seabright, N. J., July 31.—Only Howard Kinsey stands between William M. Johnston and his fourth straight victory in the Seabright invitation tennis tournament. Johnston reached the finals here today at the expense of Nathaniel W. Niles, of Boston, whom he outplayed 6-2, 4-4, while Kinsey advanced by defeating Lucien E. Williams, of Chicago, for intercollegiate champion, 6-4, 6-9.

In flashes Johnston played up to the arm of his championship days, but he was inclined to temper his speed on occasions. He stroked almost entirely from back court, out placing and outspeeding Niles and getting better speed and length in his drives.

Williams, after an impressive start, slumped in control against Kinsey and dropped nine of the last ten games played.

Miss Mary Browne and Mrs. T. Horace Dudley, of Los Angeles, advanced easily to the finals in the women's doubles, defeated Miss Molly D. Thayer and Miss Phyllis Walsh, of Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-2. They meet Miss Mayne Macdonald and Miss Florence Ballin, of New York, in the finals tomorrow. Other finals scheduled for Friday are Johnston vs. Kinsey in the men's singles and Miss Browne vs. Miss Macdonald in the women's singles.

Three teams survive in the men's doubles, with William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin in the final, and Howard and Robert Kinsey and Earl Behr and Dean Matthey in the semi-final.

Harvey Snodgrass and Walter Westbrook furnished something of a sensation by overwhelming the national intercollegiate champions, Lewis White and Louis Thalesner, of the University of Texas. The college failed to win a game. Later in the day in a spectacular match Snodgrass and Westbrook extended Johnston and Griffin to the limit in win, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

SLAMS SALAAMS

By Louise Dooly

THE only way some people know that the stars are beautiful is "Hush! if you saw some western cloud All billowy-bosomed, overbowed By many benedictions—sun's And moon's and evening star's at once—

And so, you, looking and loving best, Conscious grew, your passion drew Cloud, sunset, moonrise, star-shine, too.

Down on you, near and yet more near, Till flesh must fade for heaven was here! Thus leant she and lingered—joy and fear! Thus lay she a moment on my breast.

The vogue of uncovered terraces as an adjunct to every well-ordered house ought to do something for the popularity of the heavens, except that people leave the terraces for automobiles with tops, and the stars shine on unspun.

They really reward a little attention, as a frivolous group of summer resorters found the other night, when the glory of the night was overwhelming. It silenced chit chat. Then by coincidence there was discovered close at hand one of those rare souls, a born teacher, who can make even study a diversion.

His is a painless method, is quite different from that of the teacher of astronomy who had been darning the mathematics of the subject for seven years into successive classes of sufferers at his hands, and at the end of the seven years, the fact developed that he himself had never seen Mars. He knew only the theory of his science, and there was nothing for him in "the forget-me-nots of the angels."

August will be as tempting out of doors as were the July nights that started the little group aforesaid, when they saw Jupiter as the most brilliant light in the skies. We had a sweep of them towards the south with a fair portion also to the east and west.

WE have watched from night to night that apparent progress of shining Jupiter to the east until he has crossed a certain line marked by the position of Antares below, and another star above (we don't remember that name, but we can't remember everything at once) and we know that the earth will "catch up," and passing Jupiter, that planet will seem to stand still for a few nights and then be seen to take its true course to the east.

Mars is blushing unseen for our particular group of stars, because we can't push Sunset mountain aside, which intervenes, but observers with a sweep of the low eastern sky are more fortunate. By the 24th of the month, we shall have to go to the mountain. Mars will come to us.

In the meantime, Venus hures to early rising. She has the whole eastern sky to herself along towards daylight, and perhaps, like any other lady with a monopoly of the center stage, that is why she shines with such marvelous effulgence.

We don't know many things that are worth getting up for before a late breakfast but twice we have staggered with sleep to the window to see Venus. She is surprising in her extravagance of beauty, and with all the world hushed, she seems startlingly near, as if she might in truth be bung just over the nearby mountain.

Over near the sunset when its light has quite gone, Saturn may be traced by its position as it hangs above Spica.

Saturn, like some people, improves on acquaintance, as we found when we looked through a telescope. Then we saw his rings, and those of us who had a particularly vivid imagination got fairly dizzy with the whirling of them around the central sphere. You don't have to have imagination—only good eyes—to see between the sphere and the rings, and it is a part of the telescope game to compare each gazer's idea of how big Saturn looks. Opinion will vary all the way from the dimensions of a fly to a cart wheel.

Even more impressive is great Jupiter with his four moons like beautiful crystal balls, and some idea of the swiftness of our own progress through space is conveyed to us through the frequency with which the telescope must be moved to keep the planets and their satellites within range of our vision.

Jupiter traveling through the constellations that mark his regular itinerary will be back to his present position in 12 years. Saturn, making a similar journey, will be back in his same place in 18.

How many of the little group of observers, we wonder, will be here on planet earth to greet them?

Perhaps all. Perhaps none. But if we may not gaze then with mortal eyes on the "infinite meadows of heaven," perhaps on another plane we may have learned the riddle of the stars. Who knows?

DEAR MADAM—As the subject of a recent "Slam" in your column, you choose to sneer at the woman who does so-called "pick-up work" on the hotel veranda. I wonder if you have just "passed by," or if you could have stopped to investigate. I wonder if you could know that much of the pick-up work is in the service of love and charity, and therefore honorable work. A baby blanket for a new baby, a shawl for an invalid, a little help in nappery to make happy a new bride whose trousseau money is very limited. It isn't gossip work. You can't gossip and count stitches. It is the sort of earnest work that, if concentrated on some particular article, might furnish the whole nation.

Aside from the apparent aim, I wonder if you know that the knitting needle, steel needle and crochet hook are outlets for worn-out nerves, furnishing motion for the physical being in a quiet, peaceful function, and creative outlet for the mental state?

Please don't think me presumptuous. I only wanted to set this side before one whom I find so fair and honest in all her conversation on human foibles, that I beg to subscribe myself in the time-honored term of—

CONSTANT READER.

(Blushingly we cry "Peccavi." Indeed we are so overwhelmed that we are almost persuaded to invest in some knitting needles—almost.)

"A WIFE's extravagance is quite justifiable," said one of them. "Her husband is put to it to pay her bills, and it pushes him to ambition."

"Or," interpolated another woman, "to bankruptcy."

When intolerant people, sold to a pet prejudice, are confronted with proof of their error, they are resentful. They'd rather go on unhampered in their prejudice. It is like any pet sin—the hardest to give up.

Is that citizen a good sport, politically speaking, who votes only when a particular friend is running for office, or a measure is at stake which means direct benefit or profit to himself?

"EACH letter I get from home," says the summer resorter, "when it enumerates my married women friends who have bobbed their hair since the last letter, sounds like a page from the telephone directory."

Kathleen Norris, in a recent common-sense study of modern marriage and its pitfalls, says that the "other man," the "other woman," is seldom the first cause of the unhappy marriage. Rather does one party fall down on the job within the home, or both do, and then the situation is ripe for the outside interest. It sounds logical.

Interest and Dividend Checks Show Big Increase for July

BY R. L. BARNUM.
New York, July 31.—Convincing evidence of the increasing wealth of this country is found in the monthly payments, today's report showing a total of $396,880,000 for Jul against $366,025,000 a year ago. Of this total dividends paid by 350 corporations make up $106,440,000 against $101,756,000 for July of 1929, with int. est.

payments at $200,440,000 against $204,450,000 including only $90,000,000 by the government which is a comparatively small sum for such over-increasing payments. These steadily increasing monthly interest and dividend payments are factors in the daily stock and bond markets, investors using such payments to increase their security.

MARKET IN RADIUS

Wall Street was greatly interested in the ruling just made by the federal reserve board at Washington to the effect that German gold bills endorsed by the German gold discount bank would be accepted as high grade currency by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This ruling was made after the gold bills had been advanced to 31-2 points lower at 44, and opened 31-2 points lower at 44, advanced to 46, broke to 39-34 and again rallied to 44. Wares showed a decline of 1/2 point at 11, broke to 10-11-2 after having sold as high as 11-1/2 and as low as 11. Oils were mixed, with most active issues showing little change. Gains came to 1 to 4 points by Cities Service.

the question had been raised by one of the federal reserve banks as to whether it makes such trade bills eligible for discount.

The significance of the ruling at this time is that undoubtedly the federal reserve board is getting ready for handling of these bills, by our federal reserve bank, if the $200,000,000 German loan goes through. For the last few days the feeling has been prevailing here that the German loan will go through. If so undoubtedly the federal reserve banks will have an opportunity to rediscount German trade Oil Project Increases.—Average daily production of crude oil in this country for the week ending July 26, increased 10,200 barrels to 187,700, the American Petroleum Institute reports today. A year ago at this time it reported only 146,400 and at Notes receivable, decreased, 781,000.

Government securities, increased 6,080,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 10.88 per cent; last week it was 18.60 per cent.

Rate of discount 4 per cent.

New York, July 31.—The market for coffee futures was somewhat irregular to-day and after opening five points higher to eight points lower, eased off a few points further on late deliveries with December as low as 13.78 and March 13.44 under local realizing. A rally followed in

BOUNDARY PROBLEM IN IRELAND ACUTE

London, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Irish boundary problem has suddenly become acute again in consequence of the unanimous decision of the privy council's judicial committee to the effect that the only way to constitute the boundary commission provided for in the Anglo-Irish treaty is to amend the treaty by new legislation in the imperial parliament, binding both the northern and southern Irish governments.

The British cabinet was summoned to a special meeting last evening to consider the position, which is said to be causing the ministers considerable anxiety. It is the view of the extreme delicacy of the situation that the cabinet decided, it is said, to invite the British signatories of the Anglo-Irish treaty and the leaders of the other political parties to confer immediately.

Communications were sent last night to former Premier Baldwin, conservative party leader; former Premier Asquith, head of the liberals, and the treaty signatories, and the conference is expected to meet today. It is believed all will attend with the exception, perhaps, of Mr. Asquith, who is recuperating at the seaside from a slight illness. The treaty signatories were former Premier Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead, Winston Spencer Churchill, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Chief Justice Hewart.

The general belief is that the government will be reluctant to introduce new legislation this late in the parliamentary session, but several of the ministers are urging that unless an amending bill is brought in immediately a settlement made, the republican movement in southern Ireland will force the Free State out of existence and bring about the establishment of a republic.

William T. Cosgrave, president of the Free State executive council, has been pressing the British government for action for a long time, and the latter recognizes the difficulties involved in further delay.

The Morning Post, which is ultra-conservative, pictures the situation in the darkest colors and predicts the collapse of the Free State government and the triumph of the republicans in any case by autumn or early winter. It characterizes the "solution" of the fact that the British troops have been ordered withdrawn from the Pettigo and Belleek areas, two of the crucial points on the Ulster border.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Samuel Gompers and his fellow members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor were here tonight, ready to enter tomorrow the annual session at which will be mapped a political and industrial program for the organization for the next 12 months.

The conferences are expected to continue for 10 days or longer. The attitude to be adopted by the A. F. of L. toward the La Follette-Wheeler presidential ticket, which question the executive council, probably will be officially recorded near the end of the session.

Gompers, president of the A. F. of L. and chairman of the executive council, refused tonight to make any predictions about the stand to be taken on the La Follette-Wheeler subject.

Still under the care of physicians and nurses, after his recent severe illness at New York, he remained in seclusion at the Ambassador hotel, except for a brief period in mid-afternoon when he went for a wheelchair ride along the boardwalk. He was conversing with his physical resources, he said, for the stormy sessions of the executive council, which are expected to ensue as the result of the well-known division of opinion among its members of the question of presidential nominees and party platforms.

Row Over Woman Blamed as Man Lies Near Death

Macon, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Charles Beckham, 50, carpenter, of 317 Dannenberg avenue, is in a critical condition at a Macon hospital, with a two-inch split in his skull, which exposed his brain, and other serious wounds as a result of a fight tonight.

Harvey Lynch, 30, truck driver, of 321 Dannenberg avenue, who struck Beckham over the head several times with a stick, a shaver, and a razor, was arrested by police shortly after the altercation, charging Beckham with drunkenness and pleading self-defense.

"I hope he doesn't die," said Lynch. "But if he does I can't help it. He cursed me and said he was going to get me. I could have shot him, but I took the barrel of my gun and hit him with the stock."

Lynch claims he had been assisting Beckham in his efforts to get his wife, from whom he is separated, to return to him, but that Beckham charged him with meddling with his family affairs. He claims Beckham started to hit him, and that he defended himself.

Beckham has been unable to talk since the altercation.

Lions of Moultrie Protest Tightening Of Sunday Laws

Moultrie, Ga., July 31.—The Moultrie Lions' club, with only two dissenting votes, passed a resolution urging Sheriff T. V. Board to lift the no right in Colquitt that the sale of gasoline, ice, newspapers, etc., on that day has been prohibited.

The resolution states that such stringent enforcement of the Sunday laws "is detrimental to the future growth of Moultrie and Colquitt counties and produces a demoralizing effect upon civic and religious life."

Members of the club gave it as their opinion that gasoline, newspapers, ice, ice cream, soft drinks, tobacco, etc., are necessities of life "under our enlightened civilization."

In issuing the drastic closing order, Sheriff Board declared that he was carrying out the recommendations of the grand jury, which included in its general presentments a plea "for strict enforcement of the Sunday laws."

Hardwick Addresses Lowndes Audiences In Race for Senate

Valdosta, Ga., July 31.—Former Governor and United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick addressed about 1,000 people here today in the interest of his candidacy for the senate against Senator W. J. Harris.

Mr. Hardwick was introduced by Judge Albert Little, of the city court, and the speaker held his audience for about an hour, presenting his views on national legislation and issues of the day.

His address was especially notable for the fact that all mention of the Ku Klux Klan was omitted, many of his hearers expecting him to turn his broadside loose on that organization.

Valdosta Celebrates Opening of Market For New Tobacco Crop

Valdosta, Ga., July 31.—About 5,000 people from all parts of the bright leaf tobacco growing area of south Georgia and north Florida assembled in Valdosta today to celebrate the advent of Valdosta as a tobacco market for the present season, and the visitors were served with a barbecue dinner at the Valdosta tobacco warehouse which has been completed, a structure which covers two acres of space and affords ample space for handling tobacco.

This, however, is only one of three tobacco warehouses Valdosta will have this season, all modernly equipped and efficiently handled. The big warehouse looked like a county fair with its two acres of floor space thronged with people, the inside of the building affluted with American flags and gay banners. Visitors were here from all parts of Florida where tobacco is being grown as well as the whole Georgia area.

Valdosta business houses closed for the dinner hour and remained closed for the purpose of extending a welcome to the visitors and seeing that they had plenty to eat and enjoyed themselves.
